

An illustration of the time series subsequence extraction via sliding window

An example of the PAA approximation error computation as the sum of distances between points and their PAA values

An example of the SAX transform: a time series of 100 points converted into a 5 letters word 'cabbc'

An example of the Alphabet error computation as the sum of dist. between PAA and their alphabet cut segment centers

